As a Professional Geologist certified by the State of Texas, it is my opinion that the water source beneath the Lone Wolf Ranch used by the CForce Bottling Company is very soft, with unusual natural clarity, and is from a deep and sustainable artesian aquifer with groundwater that is estimated by geochemical dating methods to be from the last Ice Age at 23,130 years old. This groundwater source is unlike other waters in the area; as the earth filters it naturally by flowing through volcanic rock and ash, these rocks act as natural water softeners to remove hard minerals and metals from the groundwater through natural ion exchange. As a result, CForce water is very soft, clear, and free of organic impurities.

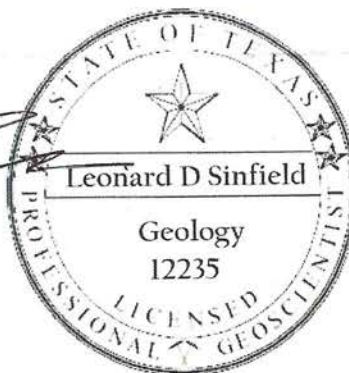

This sustainable artesian water source is a deep-flow confined aquifer that is immune to all biological factors and is free from all traces of modern industrial pollutants. No trace of Modern water was found in this water source. Straight from the source, this water flows under natural artesian pressure to the surface and is pure, clear, refreshing, and meets all United States federal and state bottled water and drinking water quality standards and requirements.

If you or others have questions concerning the quality of the source for the CForce Bottling Company bottled water, please call or email me.

Sincerely,

Leonard D. Sinfield, PG #12235
Hydrogeologist
